Introduction: Astrological assessment. War prediction. Global total shutdown. This sounds like gobbledygook to me, but Jordan Maxwell has been a good source in the past on many subjects, so I listened to him. 'It's in the stars,' he says. 'Nostradamus understood,' he says. Just when we were all hoping an end to the CV lockdowns might get life back to some kind of normal this prediction arrives.

Nostradamus astrology—How Nostradamus read the stars

The world will come into a terrible situation. Biowarfare. A biological weapon will be unleashed upon humanity—predicted six months prior to the CV outbreak.

What is happening now, and what is going to happen, has to do with the stars—it has nothing to do with politics. Some people have already gone to their subterranean hideouts. This is a depopulation agenda on the part of these people—the elite, who unleashed the CV upon humankind.

What is coming? If humanity continues to reproduce at the current rate, there will come a time when there will not be enough food and not enough water for the world population.

The CV is caused by a man-made weapon.

I know what is coming. I have already seen it. The entire globe of the Earth is going into a most critical condition. This will be seen by the first week of October, the complete shutdown of humankind, like never before.

October is when the entire world will be involved in a major shutdown that will call political and social unrest on a scale never seen before.

Then about 16 or 17 months later, it will be over.

In October 2020 the whole Earth is moving astrologically into the constellation of Scorpio. There will be a deadly war. The god of Scorpio is Mars—the god of War. We shall see all over the Earth everything will be shutdown. No one can stop it.

President Trump...consider his particular stars [at his birth]: he has the same stars over him [from the time of his birth] as the Earth will have in October.

The stars have shown what is coming, and there is nothing we can do about it.

COMMENT FROM RP: This is pure astrological fatalism, which I completely reject. As St. Thomas Aquinas said: "The stars incline, they do not compel." In other words, it is up to human beings what we make of the cosmic influences that we are exposed to. The stars do not compel us to do anything. In this connection, Rudolf Steiner indicated that we must awaken to the reality of the guidance of the Archangel Michael for our time, and that this will connect us with the stream of freedom [rather than fatalism]. We are free, and this means that we are free to choose. For example, one can choose to follow the teachings of Christ:

“Love one another and love God.” Or one can choose to serve Satan and become a pedophile, taking advantage of children and young people, who are unable to defend themselves, thus going against their free will, since—until they reach adulthood—they are unable to freely choose. Until then, they must be protected from predators. Right now the whole world is faced with the choice between Good and Evil. Obviously, this is a vast theme—about which there would be much more to say.
